Flex Chair

The Flex Chair is a premium reproduction of the Brno Chair designed by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe. This iconic chair echoed the innovative simplicity and was designed specifically for the Tugendhat House, recognized by designers as van der Rohe's most defining work. This uniquely balanced chair is securely positioned on a single, suspended leg that also forms the notable flat-bar armrests. A classic example of Mies™ innovative design aesthetic, the stunning and unusual chair proves that less is indeed more.
