2211 Armchair - Leather

The powerful shape of this design remains a classic piece of Danish Modernism, with clean shapes and strong lines perfectly reflecting the straightforward approach that characterizes the mid-century period. The almost-scientific approach of the original designer is evident in the subtle geometric forms made by the cushions and hardwood box frame. Not only practical, it is also incredibly comfortable, with the multidensity foam creating a plush welcoming seat. This piece is part of a collection that includes the 2213 Three Seater Sofa and 2212 Loveseat for a complete living room set.
